JUNIOR LEAGUE OF JACKSONVILLE ANNOUNCES 2017-18 AWARD WINNERS

The Junior League of Jacksonville concludes a successful year of service with awards ceremony honoring dedicated committees and members

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (May 1, 2018) – The Junior League of Jacksonville brought 2017-18 to a close honoring the women and committees who are striving to lead the Jacksonville organization and to be a force for change in the community. The awards ceremony was held on May 1 at the Junior League of Jacksonville Headquarters, the Riverside House, located in Riverside. The event brought the active and sustaining members and their families together to celebrate what was a year of empowerment.

The Junior League of Jacksonville is comprised of some of the most influential and accomplished women in the area and the following women are among the best and brightest of 2017-18:

Committee of the Year Recipient:

Member Events and Planning Committee

The Membership Events and Planning Committee shined in 2017-18, creative one-of-a-kind member experiences on a small budget. Members were blown away by their ingenuity and dedication to great member experience.

Volunteer of the Year: Anissa Pricher

Anissa served as 2017-18 chair of the Done-In-A-Day Committee, organizing hundreds of volunteer opportunities for members of the Junior League, and often serving as chair of each individual event. She was vice chair of the committee in 2016-17, and will serve as the 2018-19 Vice President of Community.

Leader of the Year Recipient: Latasha Brown
Latasha Brown's dedication to both the Unique Boutique and Party of the Decades fundraising events and her continued mentorship in the League helped bring the legacy of the League, the mission and community programs to life for our membership and our home community.

Pamela Y. Paul Service Award Recipient: Lyndsay Rossman Hill
The Pam Paul Community Service Award recognizes volunteerism in the Junior League and throughout the greater community. As a member, Lyndsay Rossman Hill chaired the Public Affairs Committee helping to lead social change and ensure that the voiceless in our community were heard by our Florida state legislators.

Tillie K. Fowler Community Service Award Recipient: Sustainer Janet Reagor
The Tillie K. Fowler Service Award honors a sustaining member of the Junior League of Jacksonville that has gone on to do extraordinary work and impact the community. Sustainer Janet Reagor currently serves as associate director at Sanctuary on 8th Street, and is president of the Rotary Club of San Marco for the 2017-2018 year. She is serving her second term as president and also serves at the District level as an assistant governor. Thank you for your continued dedication to our community, and your continued stewardship of the League.
